Diocese of Columbus commends 8 Catholic Schools and 19 Teachers for Excellence in Science

COLUMBUS – The Catholic Diocese of Columbus has been notified that eight of its schools were among 73 Ohio schools recognized by the Ohio Department of Education for excellence in science opportunities. In conjunction with the schools, 19 teachers from those schools were recognized by the Ohio Academy of Science in Columbus for their excellence.

“We are pleased with the recognition awarded our eight schools and 19 teachers and recognize it as a reflection of the quality education offered at all of our Catholic schools.

Striving to empower our students in a world of science, mathematics and technology, we seek to focus on the overall development of each student to equip them with Christian virtues so they may apply that learning,” said Lucia McQuaide, Superintendent of Catholic Schools of the Diocese of Columbus.

“To qualify for the Governor’s Award, each school conducted a local science fair with 20 or more students, sent a student to one of the Academy’s 16 district science days, and involved students in one or more youth science opportunities beyond the classroom,” according to the Ohio Academy of Science.
